COURT REFUSES DIVORCE; GIVES ESTATE TO SON

Two opinions were handed down by the Adams county court this morning, a divorce was granted and an auditor was appointed in Highland township.

James K. Washinger, Biglerville, was granted a divorce from Elizabeth Motz Washinger, Chambersburg, on grounds of infidelity. The decree forbids Mrs. Washinger from marrying the co-respondent during Mr. Washinger's lifetime.

Helen Weikert was appointed auditor in Highland township in response to a petition from residents of that township.

Divorce of Hannah C. Hoke, Straban township, from Harry Clayton Hoke, also of Straban township, was refused by the county court in an opinion holding that the separation is by consent and "that the essential element of an intention on the part of the defendant to desert is lacking."

Never Been Back

In her testimony, according to the opinion, Mrs. Hoke did not object to Mr. Hoke's staying at his home because "she felt that he needed to be adjusted (presumably to married life) and she did not persuade him to stay because she felt that was the wrong way to go about it." The opinion said she testified she told him he was not going to stay at her home one evening two years ago "and he has never been back since."

The entire estate of Angelo G. Camberis, former owner of the Plaza restaurant here, is to be turned over to George A. Camberis, Philadelphia, his son, according to another opinion handed down by the court today. George Camberis had petitioned the court to terminate the trust set up by his later father which named the Gettysburg National bank as trustee and said that one-half the estate should be given the son at age 30 and the remainder at age 35.

LIBRARY'S HIGH '51 CIRCULATION HELD "UNUSUAL"

Topping its 1950 circulation record by more than 7,000, the Adams County Free Library attracted attention of Pennsylvania State library officials with its total of 95,425 book loans during 1951.

Miss Charlotte Fleck, assistant state librarian, recently told Mrs. Mary S. Wilson, Adams county librarian, that the Adams county library's report for 1951 circulation was the first county library report she had seen showing an increase over 1950. At the state library, she added, they attributed the decline to the inroads of television on their former readers' time.

Circulation figures given by Mrs. Wilson to the board of directors of the Adams County Free Library Friday evening at the group's January meeting, showed that the new high figure was attained in spite of the fact that December's heavy snows interfered with the schedule of the library's bookmobile and made it necessary to cancel one trip and part of a second last month.

Need More Books

December circulation at the main library and at branches and other points served to offset the loss of school circulation and brought the December total to 10,404 as compared with 10,238 for December of 1950, the librarian said.

Last month also saw the library add 160 books, 148 of them donated and the remainder purchased. Forty-two books were worn out and withdrawn from circulation in the same month. The library's collection now totals 13,548 but the board Friday evening gave attention again to the growing need for more books, especially for juvenile readers.

Mrs. Wilson's report showed the bookmobile covered 181 miles last month in spite of the interference from the weather.

DAR IS TOLD OF BELL TOWER AT VALLEY FORGE

"The Bell Tower at Valley Forge" was the theme of a talk given by Mrs. William C. Langston, York, at a meeting of the Gettysburg chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the home of Mrs. J. Augustine, Fairfield road, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. Langston, advisor of the Washington Memorial Chapel building committee at historic Valley Forge Military Academy, Wayne, discussed the progress made by the national DAR project started a decade ago.

A colored film was shown which supplemented the address with its presentation of famous buildings and revered landmarks at the institution. Interior and exterior scenes of the Bell Tower were disclosed in its various stages of construction.

During the meeting the local chapter pledged a plaque to be placed in the tower in honor of Mrs. Harper Donelson Sheppard, of Hanover, in appreciation of her efforts toward the completion of this project.

LIBRARY BOARD ADOPTS BUDGET; SEEK BOOK FUND

The board of directors of the Adams County Free Library association Friday evening adopted a $9,875 budget for 1952 to keep expenditures within anticipated receipts — but the budget committee said the "library needs an additional $5,000 for new books and property improvements next year."

The budget committee report, submitted by L. S. Long, chairman, urged the board to consider means of raising $5,000 for the library this year beyond the receipts listed in the budget. He said $3,000 is needed for buying books, especially for youth readers who are the library's most numerous customers, and $2,000 for property improvements and repairs.

The budget as adopted Friday evening provides only $500 for new books and $500 for property maintenance. The latter figure makes provision for painting the exterior of the former jail building.

Adopt "Friends" Plan

Last year the library spent $3,565 for new books, a part of that sum coming from a $1,000 donation by the Musselman foundation.

President C. A. Cluck presided at the meeting and appointed Lloyd Crouse, Littlestown, and D. E. Winebrenner, III, New Oxford, to the Friends of the Library committee of which Mrs. Kenneth Smoke has been made temporary chairman. The board approved a plan for a Friends of the Library project here after it was explained by Mrs. Smoke.

The board was notified Friday evening that Charles Morris Young, Radnor, Pa., Adams county native who won world fame in the art world, has given the library an additional $500 in trust with the income to be used for the care of paintings he has presented to the library. Mr. Young previously had placed $2,000 in the trust fund. He indicated in his letter read to the board that additional paintings may be forthcoming for display in the library.

Re-Appoint Committee

President Cluck re-appointed Directors William M. Lott, Crouse, Clarence C. Smith and Winebrenner to the property committee for this year.

Principal items in the receipt side of the library's budget are the sums which are received annually from the county and the state—$3,500 (Continued on Page 2) inches long. It can be reached from Gettysburg by driving east on York street from Lincoln Square to the Hunterstown road, Legislative Route 01040, to State Route 394, turning right into Hunterstown and continuing through New Chester to Hampton. Continue across the square in Hampton to the intersection of Route 394 with Route 234, the Heidlersburg-East Berlin highway. Turn right on 234, and continue approximately half a mile, then turn right on Legislative Route 01037 for half a mile to the bridge.

Covered Bridge Over Conewago At Brown's Mill

The motorist, if he chooses, can drive north out of Gettysburg on Route 15 to Schriver's Corners, and turn right on 394, continuing as described before, or he may take Route 30, the Lincoln highway, to New Oxford, circle the square and drive north on Route 94 to Hampton, turning right at the square in Hampton. This is the second in a series of 24 photographs of covered bridges in Adams county. Others will be published later. —(Gettysburg Times Photo)

Captain Carlsen And Battered Ship Being Towed To England

London, Jan. 5 (AP)—Weary Capt. Kurt Carlsen, shrouded in fog and drizzling rain, grabbed a line from the bow of his split freighter Flying Enterprise today and the hurricane-beaten vessel was taken in tow.

Still making good his vow to stay aboard the wallowing ship "until I'm towed or sunk," the Danish-born skipper from Woodbridge, N. J., stayed put "in case the tow parts." The tow job is hazardous, and as long as he remained on the Flying Enterprise there was a chance he might be cast adrift again by a broken tow hawser. There also was a possibility the ship might break in two at its split midrift before the 320 perilous miles to Falmouth, Eng., are covered at slow pace.

80 Degrees List

The 4,000-horsepower tug Turnmoll churned the Atlantic with her broad-bladed propellers as the Flying Enterprise slowly began to skid through the water on her port side. The vessel was listing as much as 80 degrees in the swells, but her shifted cargo of 2,650 tons appeared to have stabilized her at about 65 degrees list.

The U. S. destroyer Willard Keith, which took over standby duties in the rescue effort this morning, radioed this report to U. S. Navy headquarters in London:

"Turnmoll passed towing gear to Flying Enterprise's bow with Captain Carlsen and the Turnmoll's mate (Kenneth Dancy) handling it in the bow.

"There is no change in the weather. (An hour earlier, the Keith had reported fog and drizzle.)

"Captain Carlsen is jubilant and desires to remain on board in case the tow parts.

"The Turnmoll now has the Flying Enterprise in tow and is proceeding to Falmouth. The Turnmoll's communication is restored. The French tug, Arabelle 25, has joined the company."

Dancy, who clambered over the freighter's stern rail last night to help Carlsen fix the tow lines, remained aboard with him.

He elected to see things through to a finish with the 37-year-old vessel's skipper so both will be available on the crippled ship to handle a new line if the one now fastened to the Flying Enterprise breaks in the strain of hauling the 6,711 ton ship through rolling seas.

The successful effort came only after 33 hours of effort from the time the Turnmoll arrived. Part of the time she had to back off because the seas were too rough even to try to shoot a light "messenger" line aboard.

Carlsen was alone in the ship for more than six days until Dancy leaped onto the tilted deck last night.

Lentz American Legion post home, Baltimore street. The bonus is for both World War I and World War II veterans who went into service as residents of West Virginia.

Wide Interest In Eisenhower Boom

There is more than passing interest in the Americans-for-Eisenhower movement which blossomed into a Gettysburg Chapter here Thursday evening.

Operating as a non-partisan effort, the significance of the movement has attracted considerable interest among newspapers.

The state New York Times, for instance, wired and telephoned for "special coverage" of the affair and ordered a thousand words to be wired as soon as the dinner-meeting closed.

The Associated Press asked for a photograph of the "hat story" and special coverage.

Acme Photos sent a staffer to Gettysburg to take photographs at the dinner.

The Philadelphia Bulletin and the Philadelphia Inquirer also asked for special coverage of the affair.

Walter B. Lane, local photographer, also did a picture story of the affair.

WGET did a special interview-broadcast a few minutes after the dinner and Monday night the Columbia Broadcasting System will carry over its television network from 9:30 until 10 o'clock the story of "tossing the hat into the ring" for Ike. It will show the hat and ask contestants to identify the big Stetson. The next day CBS will rush the hat to General Eisenhower by air.

County Officials' Pay Boost Near

Adams county's commissioners and district attorney will receive a pay boost starting Monday, but county officials were not certain today as to the exact amount of increase for the district attorney.

SEVENTY-FOUR DEATHS PROBED BY CRIST IN '51

Seventy-four sudden deaths occurred in Adams county during last year, according to the records of the county coroner, Dr. C. G. Crist. In five of the deaths, inquests were held by the coroner.

The total of 74 compares with the 69 such investigations made by the county coroner in 1950, 10 more than the 64 in 1949 and 13 more than the 61 listed for 1948.

Heart attacks continued to be the leading single cause of sudden death with 27 listed as caused by various types of heart ailments. The number was less than the 34 listed for the previous year. Of the various types of heart conditions, coronary occlusions caused the largest single number of deaths, 24 as compared to 26 attributed to occlusions during 1950.

Eight Deaths In Fires

More men than women died suddenly, following the usual pattern. In 1951 the coroner was called for deaths involving 50 men and 20 women. In 1950 the number of male deaths was 47 and females 22; in 1949 the number was 40 men and 24 women.

Fire caused the death of eight people, starting with the disastrous fire near Emmitsburg last February which led to the death of four members of one family who were brought to the hospital here. A Buchanan Valley resident died.

Red Truce Negotiators Are "Killing Time" Waiting For Instructions From Big Boss

Seoul, Jan. 5 (AP)—American Sabre jets and Communist MIGs tangled in a 20-minute aerial duel over northwest Korea today but neither side inflicted any damage.

The clash between 21 Allied F-86s and 40 MIG-15s was the first aerial combat since Thursday. Sabre jets were grounded Friday by snow.

Another Sabre jet flight sighted 25 MIGs between Sinanju and Simulju but neither side made a firing pass.

Overnight fighter-bombers claimed destruction or damage to 80 enemy vehicles in attacks on an estimated 1,200 vehicles moving under cover of darkness.

1,082 Enemy Losses

An Eighth Army staff officer estimated enemy casualties for the past seven days at 1,082. Allied losses, he added, were "unbelievably light."

The air force announced that from now on U. N. aircraft losses would be announced on a weekly basis to give downed pilots a maximum chance of rescue or escape.

The weekly summary listed six aircraft downed in the past seven days. All were lost to enemy ground fire. Four Communist jets were damaged in the same period.

The air force summary also reported destroyed or damaged 17 Communist tanks, along with three locomotives, 150 box cars and 882 supply vehicles.

United Nations forces on the western front, an Eighth Army communiqué said, launched a counter-attack west of Korangpo early Saturday "to complete re-establishment of advanced positions" lost to Reds December 28.

W. M. CONOVER FUNERAL WILL BE HELD MONDAY

Dr. Ralph R. Gresh officiating. Interment will be in Evergreen cemetery.

Mr. Conover was a son of the late Samuel and Ellen Mehning Conover. He was born in Adams county, and had lived in Gettysburg for the last 45 years. He was a machinist and cabinet maker, and operated a machine and cabinet shop at his home for the past 27 years. He was a member of Good Samaritan Lodge No. 336 of Gettysburg.

Surviving Mr. Conover are his widow, the former Myrtle M. Swope; two daughters, Mrs. Donald Shepherd, Hobokus, N. J., and Mrs. J. Dalton Harrow, Westwood, Mass.; five grandchildren and three brothers: Harry, Gettysburg; Howard and George, Littlestown; R. D.; Charles, Aspers; Claude, Harney, and Norman, Gettysburg R. D.

HISTORIANS TO HEAR DR. YOUNG

Dr. Henry Young, of the Pennsylvania State Archives staff at Harrisburg, will be the speaker for the January meeting of the Adams County Historical society to be held Tuesday evening at 8:15 o'clock in the basement meeting rooms in the court house, adjoining the society's museum.

"The Tories in Pennsylvania" will be Dr. Young's topic and he will give special attention to York and Adams counties. Formerly director of the York County Historical society, the speaker received his doctorate from Johns Hopkins university after graduate study and then joined the Pennsylvania Archives staff.

The annual election of officers will take place at the business session and annual reports of committees will be presented. The election will take place after the report of the nominating committee which is headed by Mrs. Guyon E. Buehler is presented.

The date for the meeting was postponed one week because the regular meeting time fell on New Year's day and the hour for the meeting was delayed because of the Union Week of Prayer service to be held that evening.

LIONS MEET MONDAY

The Gettysburg Lions club will hold its first meeting of the year Monday evening at 6 o'clock at the Shetter House. A program will be presented by the Pennsylvania State police.

Munsan, Korea, Jan. 5 (AP)—A U. N. truce negotiator bluntly told the Communists today that the threat of growing Red air power in Korea will not force the Allies to bow to the Communists' armistice demands.

The United Nations command did not come to Korea to surrender," said Maj. Gen. Howard M. Turner. "You have cast yourself in the role of a bandit who says to his victim 'you have nothing to fear from me so long as you surrender your purse and walk away without creating a disturbance.'"

In a nearby conference tent, United Nations and Communist negotiators haggled fruitlessly for more than three hours over how prisoners of war should be exchanged.

Feeble Arguments

"Their arguments are getting pretty feeble," said Rear Adm. R. E. Libby. "It is obvious they are killing time waiting for instructions."

Libby said the Reds refused to answer another request for an immediate exchange of sick and wounded prisoners.

Subcommittees working on the problems of supervising an armistice and exchanging prisoners were deadlocked when they adjourned, but both scheduled meetings for 11 a.m. Sunday (9 p.m. EST Saturday) in Panmunjom.

Saturday's session of the truce supervision subcommittee was brief but bitter, Turner lambasted the Reds in replying to a statement made Friday by Chinese Maj. Gan. Hsieh Fang.

"You suggested that if the U. N. command was so concerned for the security of his forces he should withdraw from Korea," Turner said. "What a typical piece of upside down reasoning."

Big Stumbling Block

"We have no intention of walking away under a threat of your development of air power during the armistice and leaving the South Koreans to your tender mercies."

The issue of air field construction during an armistice is the major stumbling block barring agreement on how to police a truce. The United Nations insist that no military air bases be built or repaired in North Korea, although a limited number of fields could be put in condition for civilian use.

FARM SURVEYS ARE COMPLETED ON 6,620 ACRES

During the last six months members of the Adams County Soil Conservation completed 6,620 acres of conservation surveys on farms of cooperators of the local district. Conservation surveys indicate the amount of erosion, slope, drainage, land potential and types of soils found on individual farms. The conservation survey becomes the basis for future farm planning and the application of conservation practices.

During December 13 acres of strip cropping, 2,500 feet of terraces and 950 feet of field diversion were surveyed; 4,800 feet of drainage tile installed, 13,120 feet of open ditches made and three farm ponds completed.

537 Farms Enrolled
In the past six months 64 new cooperators have been added to the files of the district, bringing the total to 537 farms. The district to date has written 382 farm plans, covering 38,620 acres.

Since the district's inception the following practices have been established: 2,668 acres of strip cropping; 100 farm ponds; 188 acres of tree planting; six miles of terraces; 18 miles of diversions; 113,983 feet of tile drainage; 33 miles of open ditches; 723 acres cleared of obstruction for farm land; 43 acres of contour furrowing; 38,940 fish stocked; 16 acres of wild life areas; 2,209 acres under woodland management assisting the Pennsylvania Department of Forest and Waters; 1,486 acres of pasture seeded, and 3,504 acres set out for contour farming.

13 DEATHS IN COUNTY

Only 12 persons were killed in automobile accidents within the borders of Adams county in 1951 instead of 16, as reported by The Gettysburg Times Thursday, according to Sgt. Joseph E. Temple, in charge of the state police substation here. Sgt. Temple said 16 deaths were carried on the state police summary, but that three of the 16 were killed in an accident at Clear Springs, Harrisburg road, in York county. There is still a hearty welcome awaiting any out of state player but he must voluntarily apply for a scholarship. The school will make no effort to recruit prospective gridders who live outside the commonwealth.

The maximum scholarships to non-Kentuckians will be five a year.

Coach Paul Bryant announced the change in the recruiting policy a few minutes after his squad returned from Dallas and its Cotton Bowl victory over Texas Christian.

Bryant said the idea was his own: It applied only to football and "we have concluded that the best interest will now be served by a change in this policy." Kentucky in the past has gone far afield in lining up football talent.

Move Against Evils
"We are confident," Bryant added, "that if other institutions will follow this plan, all the evils attendant on recruiting will be ended."

With de-emphasis of collegiate football being talked in some quarters, observers pondered the effect, if any, the Kentucky plan might have elsewhere. Could it be the forerunner of a new trend? Would the plan be brought before the National Collegiate Athletic association meeting next week? Could some state supply the talent for local demands?

Bryant drew praise from several coaches in the Southeastern Conference, but none indicated he would follow the Kentucky proposal 100 per cent.

Out-of-state players have been the bloodstream in Kentucky's rise in six years from a Southeastern Conference doormat to national prominence, and Bryant acknowledged it this way:

"We shall ever be grateful to these men for the contributions they have made to whatever success we have attained."

"Outsiders" Prominent
Some outsiders gained national prominence at Kentucky—All-Americans Doug Moseley and Bob Gain, and Vito Parrilli, who rewrote many passing records.

The out-of-state players who are on scholarship—some of them have three years of eligibility left—will be retained. The five grants in aid to outsiders will go in the main to sons and brothers of alumni.

The new plan is effective at once. Bryant said it would take four years to determine the result.

FIFTY COLLEGE STARS TO PLAY FOR CASH TODAY

Mobile, Ala., Jan. 5 (AP)—For the first time in their lives 50 star players from 33 schools in 24 states play a game of football today for the sake of cash — and not for college spirit or glory.

The game — called the Senior bowl because all the stars are in their final college year — gives each player on the winning team $500 and each player on the losing team $400. A tie game and they split the $400 at the rate of $450 per helping.

For convenience the group of 50 is divided as equally as possible and the teams are called North and South.

In two previous Senior bowls the South squad won 20-13 and 19-16. This year the North squad looks at least a touchdown better on the strength of a better line, four extra days of working together, and a wet field.

Pro Scouts Coming
The southerners — with Bill Wade of Vanderbilt and Babe Parrilli of Kentucky — are passing specialists, and a wet field will do them no good.

The names North and South are misleading. Tulane and South Carolina have players on each squad. Florida State supplied guard-Bill Dawkins to the Yanks. Two men from Arkansas are on the North and center Frank Mitterdorf of Cincinnati plays for the South.

The Rebels are coached by Steve Owen, head man of the professional New York Giants. The Yanks, including seven Texans, are coached by Wilbur Eubanks and Fritz Heisler, assistant coaches of the Cleveland Browns.

Paul Brown, regular Cleveland and North team coach, was forced by his pro contract to leave the Senior bowl Thursday and go to Los Angeles for the pro bowl game Jan. 12.

Every professional team in major league football has either a head coach, an assistant or a scout here for the game. The pro draft Jan. 17 in New York will be heavily influenced by what the 50 players do here today.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—Wonder if the U. of Kentucky's decision to limit out-of-state football scholarships to five means that Bear Bryant has his "farm system" established? ... Only last spring Bear explained that he had to go so far afield for players because Kentucky high schools didn't produce enough and that he was just beginning to get talent trained by his former players who had become coaches. ... He also complained rather bitterly about some features of the high school setup which kept many small town boys from playing football. ... Looks as if the Bear had come up with a pretty good idea for eliminating some of football's troubles and several coaches agree with his idea. ... But it won't work in all cases. ... The supply still isn't equal to the demand in some places and there still are states like Ohio and Pennsylvania where it's vice versa.

Phil Rizzuto is arranging to have his own television show under the guidance of Frank Scott, former Yankee road secretary who handles the bookings for Tommy Henrich and a lot of other baseballers. ... Charles Burlingame, 80-year-old former jockey who visits Tropical park regularly, thinks that the stall game is chiefly responsible for the improvement in racing since his day. ... Jesse Arnelie, six-foot-five, 215-pound freshman from New Rochelle, N. Y., may turn out to be the best all-around athlete in Penn State history. ... He easily moved into top spots in football and basketball and is reported to be a first-rate hurdler and quarter-mile. ... Lew Ponsica, narrating the world series movie, described one play as a "sacrifice fly" which hadn't been in the rules for some 20 years.

TOP COACHING JOBS ARE OPEN
New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—Football coaches looking for jobs in a major college of professional ranks may apply to at least three schools and two members of the National Football League. And there may be a fourth opening among the nation's top collegiate gridiron powers before another day rolls around.

Jobs are open at Pittsburgh, Indiana and Arizona, among the colleges and at Washington and the Chicago Cardinals in the NFL. Forest Evashevski has told Washington State authorities he'll tell them by tomorrow whether he'll be back at the helm of the Cougars.

Actually Pittsburgh still has a coach in Athletic Director Tom Hamilton but the war time organizer of navy athletics has announced he doesn't want the job again. He stepped in last season when Len Casanova resigned in July to take over the coaching reins at the University of Oregon.

Hamilton was scheduled to sit down with the school's athletic committee today to talk over the situation. Some 80 men have applied for the job, including Johnny Michelson, former coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers of the NFL; Red Dawson, backfield coach at Michigan State, and Bill Glassford, youth football mentor at Nebraska.

There have been no announcements from either Indiana or Arizona regarding replacements for Clyde Smith and Bob Winslow, respectively. Both stepped out last fall after their teams failed to play up to expectations.

NAMED BEST SPORTSCASTER

Gordon B. McLendon, president of the Liberty Broadcasting System of which WOET is an affiliate and known to millions of radio sports fans as "the Old Scotchman," has won The Sporting News award as the Number 1 football broadcaster for 1951.

Announcement of the annual coveted nationwide gridcasters' award was revealed by Editor J. Taylor Spink in the current issue of The Sporting News.

McLendon's vivid, colorful and all-around style of describing a football game "climaxed his steady rise to the top ranks of sports announcers during the past year," Spink said.

The LES president narrated 13 college and professional football classics through December 16, 1951. He covered approximately 12,500 miles on his football broadcasts, traveling by plane, rented cars, taxis and in pickup trucks when he had car failures.

Among the many wires and letters of congratulations received by McLendon included one from Jim Thorpe, rated the greatest athlete of the past 50 years, who said "congratulations from the 'Old Injun' to the 'Old Scotchman.'"

UNDERDOG IDAHO JOLTS HUSKIES; OKLAHOMA WINS

New York, Jan. 5 (AP)—Hopes of the University of Washington Huskies for the No. 1 national basketball ranking were jolted last night.

Currently ranked 3rd in the Associated Press poll the Huskies were whipped by underdog Idaho, 56-51, as they opened defense of their Pacific Coast Conference championship.

It was the second startling result in as many nights. On Thursday, unbeaten NYU was drubbed 100-75 by underdog West Virginia.

Won The Hard Way
A surprised crowd of 5,800 saw Idaho, expected to lose by 15 points, win the hard way. Washington took a 10-point lead in the second quarter at 22-12 and seemed well on the way to its 10th straight victory.

Then Tommy Flynn and Herb Millard sparked an Idaho rally. Flynn's third basket tied the score at 29-29 at halftime and Millard's free throw late in the third quarter gave Idaho the lead for the first time at 38-37. Washington never regained the lead.

The Oklahoma Aggies had their usual home court trouble with DePaul at Stillwater, Okla., but a hook shot by Bob Packer with 45 seconds left gave the Aggies a 52-49 triumph.

Bucknell Loses
Houston nipped Tulsa, 42 to 41, in an exciting finish at Houston that saw the lead change hands three times in the last 36 seconds.

UCLA walloped Stanford, 81-63, and California nipped Southern California, 65-55, in two southern division games of the Pacific Coast Conference. In the northern sector, in addition to Idaho's upset of Washington, Oregon State whipped Washington State, 53-45.

George Washington trounced Wake Forest, 90-63, and South Carolina took Davidson, 76-61, in two Southern Conference games.

In the east Colgate edged Bucknell, 57-53, in a game that saw the lead change hands 13 times. And St. Peter's of New Jersey upset Manhattan 72-64.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
KEEP ADVENTURING

One reason why so many people start falling apart long before their time is that they never seem to be able to get away from themselves. The adventurer lives a long and happy life! He may die after a comparatively short number of years—but he will have lived double or triple the years of those who boast merely of the number of years.

Adventurers are always discoverers. Start adventuring and you will experience a bounce of life that you never dreamed was yours! But you may ask how and where will you adventure? One place may be in your own home town. How much do you know about it and about the people whom you pass on the street each day, but of whom you know nothing?

I have lived in my home town now for thirty years yet only this week I read a book about it that told me more than I had ever known about it before. How strange are our ideas about accumulating knowledge. My library is lined with books, gathered over many years. When I appear dull to myself I go adventuring in one of these books that I have not read, or which I have once read, and then I go for another adventure in it.

A friend radiates his best about you when you go adventuring with him. You will learn that you never knew him before! And can you name a better place to go for an adventure than to select a friend for the job?

Nothing stirs the mind of a youth as the story, or experience, of an adventure of some sort. That proves how natural it is for any of us. I like that story of Ulysses that Tennyson told about—a fellow who at the very end of his days still looked forward to another adventure. Green, the historian of the English people, had placed on his tombstone: "He died Learning." What better line for the tombstone of any of us than this: "He died Adventuring."

Keep adventuring and you will keep growing, keep learning, and keep happy—for all life is an adventure. It's a big world in which we live, and there is so much in it. How very little we know, how very much more we can know!

Washington, Jan. 5 (AP)—Harold E. Stassen announced Thursday he will enter primary contests in Ohio, Pennsylvania and Minnesota in his bid for the Republican presidential nomination.

Stassen told a news conference he has decided to go into Ohio because he feels that Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio, also a candidate for the GOP nomination, has challenged him in Pennsylvania and Minnesota. Stassen is a former governor of Minnesota.

Riding with Russell

REG. U.S. PAT. OFF.
BY FREDERICK C. RUSSELL
Member S.A.E.

Accident statistics show that not all the people who see the world with the aid of an automobile see the same world.

Carburetor Icing Again

This winter you'll be hearing even more about icing in the carburetor. It is quite an interesting story. In cool, damp weather there is a refrigeration action around the throttle during the warm-up period and when the operating load is light. Around the throttle and adjacent parts temperatures drop to about 30 degrees above zero, and a little ice forms because of the moisture being drawn in through the carburetor's air intake. Then when the driver stops for a light with the engine idling, additional ice forms around the throttle and the motor stalls. It can be quickly re-started. And, of course, the icing stops the instant things start to warm up.

There are three reasons why icing is more of an annoyance right now. First is the elimination of the hand control of the throttle which was used to increase the idling speed during warm-up. Second is the slower idling needed for cars with automatic transmissions (to check creeping). And third is the fact that when an engine with an automatic transmission stalls the driver isn't so likely to realize it until he tries to go ahead.

It Works Both Ways

Those of you who have followed this column know how much stress I place on the matter of proper alignment between engine, clutch and transmission. In mentioning this I usually am on the trail of clutch chatter or noises in the transmission. However, the thing works in reverse. That is, a misaligned transmission will adversely affect the clutch by forcing its plate to twist. In a sense the plate is made to provide a sort of universal joint action since the power line isn't straight from the engine's shaft to the main shaft of the gearbox. This twisting cracks the clutch hub.

Moisture Is Another Problem

Not too well understood is the damage that can be done to the finish of a car by reason of deposits from condensation of dew or moisture. This condensation dries off so quickly we are inclined to overlook the fact that it has a way of picking up and holding and then depositing all manner of chemical laden dust on the car. This is in addition to its corrosive effect on exposed metal parts. Best way to check this is to give the car the benefit of plenty of waxing. This will also prevent grime from becoming embedded.

Mechanic Joe Speaking

"Nothing pleases me more than the puncturing of the myth that hydraulic brakes are always equalized just because of the fluid pressure principle involved. My line gauge helps me to prove that often the reason for grabbing, pulling and other brake oddities is that actually there is more pressure to one line than to another. Inspection shows that this can be due to a clogged brake line or to plain leakage.

"Taking into account the matter of actual line pressures has saved me a lot of fussing with brake shoes, lining materials, drums and anchors. All these can cause trouble, of course, but if the pressures are not equal to start with the mechanical parts of the braking system won't be on the job no matter how perfect they may be."

Exonerating the Pump

Suspecting the noise he was hearing was from a faulty water pump one of my readers used emulsifying oil in the cooling system but failed to check the annoyance by means of this internal lubrication. Believing that the pump wasn't what he heard at all one mechanic told him to disconnect the fan belt. This he did, and the noise continued. Perhaps you have already guessed that he was hearing plain ordinary fuel deterioration—or "ping."

Power to the Rescue

Those who listen at the keyhole tell me that the real reason power braking is scheduled to more attention this year is because designers want to move the brake pedal over to where the clutch pedal used to be in conventional cars. The argument runs like this:

It would be an easy matter to move the pedal, and many drivers could quickly get used to a change in driving procedures. This would also eliminate the lost time moving the right foot from the accelerator pedal to the brake pedal. Furthermore it would enable the driver to handle his car with new precision control. But the fly in the grease is the fact that the left foot and leg are not as well developed as the right due to the fact that over a period of years the left pedal extremities have had less and less to do. So the use of power boosters will solve this.

That's the story as I get it. Maybe it's true.

Out of That Snow

Something to remember if you happen to get caught in some heavy snow and can't get traction at the driving wheels is to enlist the services of one or two friends to stand on the rear bumper and rock the rear end of the car up and down. Every time the weight comes down traction is greatly improved. This is an old trick used by winter sportsmen and it often does the trick.

Every now and again someone with an automatic transmission will note what he or she thinks is an indication of trouble. This follows some uphill work where the engine really has a tough job of pulling. Here the driver will decide that because the car doesn't show response to jabbing way down on the accelerator pedal there is something wrong and that the transmission fails to shift into underdrive. The driver doesn't realize that the shift already has been made automatically by the governor and that the next step is to make a manual shift into low or let the car's speed drop down a little so that the transmission can go into a lower gearing of its own accord. The situation varies for different systems, but it is not hard to be fooled into thinking that the transmission has failed to make that first automatic downshift.

Apropos of Skid-Time

Now is the season of year to be especially careful of your handling of the car when driving in overdrive. Customarily you would press all the way down on the accelerator pedal past a resistance point to actuate the switch which shifts the car to underdrive, assuming you wish to overtake another car. But when the road surface is slippery it is important not to bring this extra power into the picture because the chances are that the shock at the rear wheels may throw the car into a skid. Either rely on the engine's ability to power the car for a passing in overdrive or don't try to overtake the other car at all.

In The Motor Mail

Q. I have done a good job of covering the new muffler on my car. Used some asbestos padding and secured it with metal bands. Why not pass this idea along to others? G. M. N.

A. The idea isn't good. Mufflers and exhaust pipes should not be covered. That is one reason they are not undercoated. It is necessary to allow these parts to enjoy all the air cooling possible. Also a muffler usually rots from the inside out, due to so much condensation.

Q. The front brakes on my car make a peculiar popping noise, but only when I apply the brakes going in a forward direction. H. N.

A. Better have the brake drums inspected. One of them may be grooved so that the shoes pull away from the backing plate and then snap back.

Q. I have been getting a noise in the speedometer shaft on cold mornings. Any simple cure for this? Wm. L. L.

A. The shaft should be taken out and inspected, then replaced with the proper amount of special speedometer shaft lubricant. Better let an expert do this. Meantime it may help to use the car heater to warm up the upper end of the shaft where the noise most likely originates.

Q. Will adding new rust inhibitor correct the acidity of old anti-freeze? N. J. G.

A. No. It will help check rusting, but the anti-freeze has really outlived its usefulness and should be replaced.

Q. There is quite a bit of clutch chatter in my car. We have checked just about everything in sight, including the engine mounts and the rear springs. The trouble occurs with different people at the wheel so it can't be the driver. K. R., Jr.

A. I am glad you did not make the common mistake of failing to let me know the make and year and model of car you drive because this gives me the necessary clue. Your car is equipped with a hill holder which isn't properly adjusted. This will cause chatter.

Q. I have been troubled for some time with a high speed shimmy. Have checked all the conditions that might bring this one, but still get that disturbing wiggle of the wheel whenever I hit the open stretches. Hope you can help me. W. R. R.

A. There's always another possibility. Maybe you failed to check for loose rear spring shackles.

Q. My car has to be rocked in gear to release the starter pinion every now and again. What can be done about it? J. L. N.

A. There may be burred teeth on the flywheel ring gear or a bent starting motor shaft.

Mr. Russell will answer questions regarding the safe care and operation of your car. Just address him at 254 Fern street, West Hartford, 7, Conn., and enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope for a personal reply. There is no charge.

Ohler; truck foreman, Levi Hull; chief nozzlemaster, Robert L. Snyder; truck foreman, Levi Hull; chief nozzlemaster, Robert L. Snyder; pipe foreman, Clair Redding; and trustee for five years, John Burgoon. The election board was composed of Charles W. Snyder, judge, and Clair Redding and Clarence J. Krichen, Jr., tellers.

The fire chief appointed Monroe Morelock and Dennis S. Wallick as assistants. The pipe foreman chose Sylvester Krumm as his assistant. Chief Nozzlemaster Snyder appointed Lloyd Harner, Walter C. Myers, Burnell Keagy and Edward Warner as his assistants. The president appointed the following to serve as fire police for 1952: E. Paul Bigelow, captain, Harold Sparver, Charles W. Snyder, Kenneth Sparver, Bernard Dillman, J. Donald Lemmon, Ivan Rickrode, Melvin Shilt, Paul L. Hollinger, Joseph Cookson, Wayne Arnold and Jay D. Basehoar.

The meeting opened with the group singing of "America" and the Lord's prayer. Bills ordered paid amounted to $155. Receipts for the evening amounted to $128.10. Of this amount donations for fire services were received from W. H. Derr, Miss Evelyn K. Reaver and Bernard Dutterer. A donation was also received from Walter P. Crouse.

Plans Okayed

A communication was read from the International Fire Chiefs' association, relative to having the local fire chief join this organization, in order to make available to the company all new information released on fire fighting. The company voted to have the fire chief become a member of the International association and to pay the necessary annual dues of $7. A notice was read from the Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry, informing the company that the blueprints as submitted to the department for the emergency lighting system to be installed in the engine house have been approved. A communication was received from the secretary of the Adams County Firemen's association, after he had been informed by the State Firemen's association that a bill had been passed in the House denying the relief associations of volunteer and paid firemen of Pennsylvania the annual appropriation which they had been receiving. The company was requested to write to Governor Pine to delete section three of this bill, as such a denial of funds would seriously affect all fire companies in the state. The company members sent a letter to the governor as requested.

17 Alarms In 1951

Fire Chief Glenn E. Ohler announced that the company answered a total of 17 calls during the past year and presented his annual report as follows: Two calls in February, four in March, four in July, three in October and four in December. In making these calls the firemen were on duty a total of 10 hours and 5 minutes; the pumpers worked five hours and seven minutes; a total distance of 98.8 miles was traveled; 1,300 feet of 2½ inch hose was used, and 450 feet of 1½ inch hose, and 1,150 feet of ¾ inch hose. Five assist calls were made with the total loss of these calls amounting to $44.109. Five calls were made to Carroll county, Maryland, with a loss of $2,725 there; no calls to Union township; two to Germany township with a loss amounting to $2,000 there; five calls in the borough, for which the assistance of the company was not needed by three, with a loss of $415 suffered by the two calls; total loss of Littlestown Fire company zone calls, $2,415; total loss of all assist calls, $46,825; total financial loss of calls made during 1951, $49,240.

The Ladies' Aid society of Grace Lutheran church, Two Taverns, will hold the January meeting on Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the parish house. It was incorrectly announced that this meeting was to be held last Monday.

The first January meeting of the Littlestown Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held on Monday evening, 7:30 o'clock, at Schottie's hotel.

The regular Appreciation Day program will be held at 8 o'clock this evening in front of the Record shop on South Queen street. The program is sponsored by the Littlestown Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with 21 local merchants.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Myers and son have returned to their New Jersey home after spending the holiday season among relatives in this area.

Vance Criswell, of this section, was recently chosen assistant superintendent of the Red Mount Sunday school, near Bermudian.

Sanford, Fla., Jan. 5 (AP)—The wife of Harry T. Moore, negro leader killed when his home was bombed Christmas night, died of a blood clot late Thursday, probably because she left her hospital bed to view her husband's body before he was buried.

Dr. George H. Starke said Mrs. Moore, 49, had been improving steadily from injuries suffered in the bombing until she left the hospital against his advice to see Moore's body in a funeral home here.

Istanbul, Turkey, Jan. 5 (AP)—An earthquake killed at least 93 persons in eastern Turkey on Thursday. Officials said today the death toll undoubtedly would go much higher. Rescue workers prodding through ruins of homes and buildings had recovered 93 bodies up to noon today. The quake was described as of moderate intensity.

East Berlin

East Berlin—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Leib were entertained during the holidays at two family dinner parties, one at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Raymond Slothour, Dillsburg, and the other at the home of their other daughter, Mrs. John A. Miller, and family, near Thomasville.

Miss Lorraine M. Toffey, a graduate of the last class of the local high school, who is now studying nursing in the New England region, spent the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Toffey, near Dillsburg, and also visited friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Stuart Danner and daughter, Joyce E. Danner, a student at the local high school, spent the holiday season on a motor trip to Miami and other points in Florida. They also made a plane trip from Florida to Havana, Cuba.

Another local family who made a trip to Florida during the holidays were Mr. and Mrs. Carlton L. Jacobs and son, Barry. During their absence Mrs. Jacobs' aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Spahr, who reside with them, spent the time with relatives in York county.

Mrs. Robert E. Phillips, who had been very ill with a heart condition, was taken to the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Hamm, and family, Dillsburg, to recuperate and spent the holidays with them. Mrs. Phillips has returned home and is able to be about her home.

William A. Sinner, his daughter, Miss Katharine M. Sinner, and his son, Carl, all of York and formerly of here, are recuperating from injuries sustained in an auto crash between Dover and York Sunday morning as they were returning home from services at the Red Run church. All suffered scalp wounds that were treated at the York hospital. Mr. Sinner broke several ribs.

Mrs. Chester W. Zeigler, York, wife of a former local resident, is able to be about after several weeks of serious illness at her home.

Mrs. G. W. Harlacher, widow of a longtime elder of the Bermudian Church of the Brethren near here,

The auditing committee composed of Clarence L. Schwartz, Sr., Samuel M. Kengy and Jay D. Basehoar, audited the 1951 books of the company and presented a complete financial statement as follows: General fund, checking account, $1,122.65; relief fund, $432.96; savings account, $796.63; savings bond, $3,600; building fund, checking account, $303.50; balance of all funds, $6,249.74. It was announced that the relief fund loaned $3,600 to the general fund for payment on the new Mack pumper.

The auditors then suggested to the company that the secretary and treasurer be given an increase in compensation for their efforts. The company decided upon a $5 annual increase.

To Change Bylaws

President Selby reported that the Christmas cheer committee from the company, of which he was a member, had visited four ill and convalescing firemen during the holiday season and presented each with an attractive container of fruit. Lake A. Shannbrook reported for the committee which was recently appointed to make arrangements for a smoker, that the event will be held as soon after the emergency lighting system is installed, as possible, as no public gathering can be held until the system is in working order. Fire Chief Glenn E. Ohler reported that there were four calls since the last meeting, three local and one assist to Gettysburg. The chief also requested that the secretary communicate with the borough council asking for the purchase of 500 feet of 2½ inch hose. The request was approved by the company.

It was voted to amend the bylaws so that when the time comes again for election of officers, there will be a nominating committee to prepare a slate for presentation, the month prior to the election. President Selby appointed a new social committee to serve for the next three months as follows: John H. Flickinger, Noah Strevig and Allen Wastler.

At the conclusion of the meeting, refreshments were served by the retiring social committee composed of Wayne Arnold, Claude Snyder and Harry W. Stately, Jr., to the 43 members in attendance. The next meeting will be held Tuesday, February 5, 7:30 p.m., in the engine house.

Correct Identity Of Abused Sisters

Hong Kong, Jan. 5 (AP)—A Chinese mob slapped, spit upon and smeared fifth over three Catholic nuns after they were publicly tried in Red China, one of the three reported here.

It happened last October in Changchun. Marguerite De Reading Biberger of Switzerland told about it here New Year's Day.

Catholic sources have identified the other two nuns as Lucine Riffon of Cap Destroiers, Gape, Quebec, and Angela Casale of Italy. The original report identified them erroneously as Anna Fung and Agnes Swicker.

Red China subsequently deported them.

JEWELRY WORTH $323 IS STOLEN AT SCHOTTIE'S

Littlestown Chief of Police Albert H. Miller, Jr., said Bernard F. Schott had reported to him that a burglary occurred in his second floor apartment at Schottie's hotel, South Queen street, on Wednesday about 2 p.m., when it was noticed that a box of jewelry placed in the room about ten days before was missing. The box contained two ladies' wrist watches, retailing for $81.50 each; a man's wrist watch retailing for $75; ten compact, retailing for $4 each; two bracelets worth $10 each and a $25 pearl necklace, total value $323.

Chief Miller reported that on Saturday, December 29, a 1939 two-door Chevrolet owned by Edgar Study, Westminster R. 1, was parked on Charles street in the borough, when a car passed on that street between 7 a.m. and 12 o'clock noon and sidetracked the car. The driver of the truck failed to stop and investigate the mishap. Earl J. Weaver, Crouse Park, reported on Jan. 2 that the fender skirts of his 1930 De Soto automobile had been stolen sometime between December 22 and January 2. Paul M. Bowman, Prince street, reported on Thursday at 6 p.m. that a boy's bicycle had been removed from his home. The bicycle was recovered about 10:45 p.m., that evening, parked near Inner's food market on Newark street.

On Monday, Dec. 31, Orville Mummert, Hanover, appeared before Justice of the Peace F. Loy Lindaman in response to information charged on assault and battery
by Harold Bowers. Mr. Mummert was arrested and given a hearing on Wednesday. The charges were dropped by Mr. Bowers and Mummert paid the costs.
